An Ethics Workout: Challenging Situations in Medical Interpreting A CCIO Webinar

Presented by Emily Lanier and John P. Shaklee

Saturday, April 17, 2021 • 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Members: $10 • Non-Members: $15

Understanding the link between ethics and standards of practice are key to a healthcare interpreter's success. Participants will reference the The National Council on Interpreting in Health Care Code of Ethics and Standards of Practice and related principles to strategize and plan for challenging scenarios that surface in the workday. We will collaborate and discuss scenarios to cite which ethic or best practice supports their interpreting decisions including impartiality, role boundaries, and other important strategies.

Emily Lanier, a nationally-certified healthcare interpreter, is a full-time staff Spanish interpreter at Akron Children's Hospital in Ohio. Emily has a B.A. in Latin American Studies and Spanish from Washington University in St. Louis. She also has both an M.A. in English (Teaching English as a Second Language) and an M.A. in Translation at Kent State University in Translation (Spanish). She has been interpreting, translating, and teaching Spanish and ESL since 2003.

John P. Shaklee, MA in Translation, is a Certified Court Interpreter and Certified Healthcare Interpreter in Ohio. He has presented numerous workshops including Protocol, Preparation and Presentation; Legal Procedure and Terminology for Court Interpreters; and Slang and Phraseology. He is a member of the American Translators Association (ATA), National Association of Judiciary Interpreters and Translators (NAJIT), Northeast Ohio Translators Association (NOTA), and CCIO.
