Description: Because the world is changing due to the global pandemic, judicial interpreters now find themselves tasked with providing high-level services in a multitude of virtual settings and using a diverse array of remote technology. During this 3-hour webinar, attendees will collaborate with the instructor to analyze ethical responsibilities in virtual settings, and will apply what they learn by participating in numerous hands-on exercises. This workshop has been approved for 3 hours of ethics interpreter continuing education in Ohio and Kentucky.
